ABOUT THE SAKER

MOSCOW, October 26, 2019 – RIA Novosti – The Russian Ministry of Defense has published satellite intelligence images, showing American oil smuggling from Syria.

According to the ministry, the photos confirm that “Syrian oil, both before and after the routing defeat of the Islamic State terrorists in land beyond the Euphrates river, under the reliable protection by US military servicemen, oil was actively being extracted and then the fuel trucks were massively being sent for processing outside of Syria.”

Image 2: Daman oil gathering station, Syria, Deir ez-Zor province, 42 km east of Deir ez-Zor, August 23, 2019.

Here, in a picture of the Daman oil gathering station (42 kilometers east of the Deir-ez-Zor province), taken on August 23, a large amount of trucks were spotted. “There were 90 automotive vehicles, including 23 fuel trucks,” the caption to the image said.

In addition, on September 5, there were 25 vehicles in the Al-Hasakah province, including 22 fuel trucks. Three days later, on September 8, in the vicinity of Der Ez-Zor, 36 more vehicles were recorded (32 of them were fuel trucks). On the same day, 41 vehicles, including 34 fuel trucks, were in the Mayadin onshore area.

As the official representative of the Defense Ministry Igor Konashenkov noted, the Americans are extracting oil in Syria with the help of equipment, bypassing their own sanctions.

Igor Konashenkov: “Under the protection of American military servicemen and employees of American PMCs, fuel trucks from the oil fields of Eastern Syria are smuggling to other states. In the event of any attack on such a caravan, special operations forces and US military aircraft are immediately called in to protect it,” he said.

According to Konashenkov, the US-controlled company Sadcab, established under the so-called Autonomous Administration of Eastern Syria, is engaged in the export of oil, and the income of smuggling goes to the personal accounts of US PMCs and special forces.

The Major General added that as of right now, a barrel of smuggled Syrian oil is valued at $38, therefore the monthly revenue of US governmental agencies exceeds $30 million.

"For such a continuous financial flow, free from control and taxes of the American government, the leadership of the Pentagon and Langley will be ready to guard and defend oil fields in Syria from the mythical 'hidden IS cells' endlessly," he said.

According to Konashenkov, Washington, by holding oil fields in eastern Syria, is engaged in international state banditry.

The reason for this activity, he believes, "lies far from the ideals of freedom proclaimed by Washington and their slogans on the fight against terrorism."

Interesting how Washington decided to eliminate Al Baghdadi (5th or 6th time, not sure) right after this evidence by Russian Defense Ministry came out. Way to distract sheeply masses and cover their crimes by playing the same card they played with 'killing' of Osama Bin Laden.

The skepticism of Russian MOD is heavy on this 5th or 6th elimination of Baghdadi. No coordination with Russian air defense, area of alleged atk and elimination had no air traffic from coalition air, and on and on:

Not to mention he blew himself to bits with a suicide vest, so no body to prove his death. A suicide vest is just something a FORMER leader of a terrorist group wears everywhere, because you can't be too careful.

...and they even made no cover up operation when the ISIS was trading the oil with Turkey.

I hope Russians will make a big issue of this, but having in mind who runs the mass media... ☹️

How will they (US administration) compare the DNA and prove Bagdadi is dead and not evacuated to Israel? (As many terrorists used to be before to Irak, or for medical treatment to Turkey).

By some more tweets of POTUS of course!

Shoigu must be furious and Lavrov disgusted. And Putin is surely wondering whether this is bigger than the Skripal case. OMG

So US special forces and mercenaries are personally pocketing the proceeds of the oil that America is stealing and smuggling from Syria.

That is sick even by the sociopathic standards of America and its war machine, and it deserves to be exposed more fully.

Meanwhile, the civilian population of Syria is struggling with energy shortages, as the USA attempts to wage economic siege warfare against the people of this country.

First you cause 400,000 deaths, $200 Billion in destruction of whole cities and the nation's infrastructure, and cause 7 million refugees to leave their country of birth and heritage, and then you steal their oil.

America First, the Exceptional Pirate-Hegemon of the 21st Century, disgracing its citizens and forever ruining whatever good it once did.

The USA, its NATO and regional Coalitions, its CENTCOM are all criminal organizations. They have waged wars of greed and violence unparalleled in human history during our lifetime.

As we were once forced to hope they will suffer a major battlefield disaster in Vietnam to end that enormous crime against humanity (the Viets, Cambodians and Laotians), we now are forced to hope the US very soon meets Karma, suffers a large loss of life and is forced from the battlefield.

How sad. Being that a key feature of US policy for over 50 years already. Shameless. Not counting the whole 300 years of their history beginning with genocide of Indians, slave trafficking and exploiting etc. Now busted by Russians. Will Mr. MAGA make any use of it acting as if he wasn't informed? The deep state is accumulating off balance funds to finance its illegal operations! This is far bigger than Irangate, Noriega was a patsy, will the Congress investigate?! Hello republicans, wake up. Forget Biden and Ukraine, this is what American tax payer pays for and US citizens die for. What a mess. Any sanctions against USA imposed by the UN or at least words of protest from the EU? So, now Russia has free hands in Ukraine, Baltic states, I would say Poland too...you know – national interest, but the real noble ones!

If German people could have been united (for low price, thanks to silly Gorbachev and the subsequent withdrawal of Red army from Eastern Europe) than the Russians too. Belarus and Khazakstan be ready as well... Am I mistaken or what?

(say whatever you want)

How many times USSA is caught assisting terrorist group to escape, not to mention creating them, fund them and protecting them w legit USSA army and military assets? And this is not war crime and crime against humanity? Crime in USSA and per their own law? And AB blown-up? Is that silencing the critical and major witness? or winning the glorious terror war? What say you?

If I am generous, orange man just want to match TG in her army ranking (for the (s)election show) which orange man is not part of the tradition, insider and the boys. Military has its codes. And they are not orange it seems. He is still struggling to get-into da club.

So now that Russia came out, also publicly to 'say a few words' what then is left to the reputation of POT.US? His trusted high ranking boys fed him the false info again?

or "they" gave him the wrong script to read at the press?

I fear for "THE PPL". Really.

esp they think this is just another MAG.a show. They can't see it for what it is.

Mission Accomplished! "They" won.

Baghdadi was supposedly the former leader of a terror group, as in no longer the leader. So if he actually was once the leader of a terrorist group, then he deserves harsh retribution – however, the fact that he is no longer the leader means his death will have no effect at all on the present operations of that terrorist group. So I am left wondering what the strategic payoff of rubbing him out would be. It looks like a distraction-value event more than anything else, and the usual American feelgood embellishment, such as that he 'squealed in terror' as he 'ran away like a coward', merely adds to the impression that it was just something they kept in their back pocket, to be actioned when it was useful.

What many fail to realize is each and every serving member of or 'contractor' for United States of America, Federal Republic of Germany, France, UK, Holland, Poland, Ukraine, Spain and Italy armed forces is in direct violation of the military rules and regulations promulgated in the individual country's published and publicly available rules and regulations for serving military member's conduct and actions since none of the aforementioned countries have been invited to enter the Sovereign State of Syria by the Syrian Government nor have any of the aforementioned countries either declared war on Syria nor have any 'permissions' been granted by either United Nations or NATO to do so.

Whilst I completely understand the current state of affairs in The World, one never knows when the worm will turn and there is always the distinct possibility of a repeat of the Nuremberg War Crimes Trials of the late '40's. Many heinous crimes against humanity have been committed not only against Syria but also against Serbia, Libya, Irak and Kosovo. Perhaps the headsman is patiently waiting for his turn to act on the platform for all to see.

Also war crimes in Afghanistan, Ukraine (by proxy) (I know you limited for sake of brevity, there are most likely other nations where the US empire and vassals have enacted various war crimes). I pray for reason and justice to return to this world, at least the Western world (already on the wing in Russia, China [which is debatable, China still has repressive tendencies from its Communist past, correct?])

A very short time ago The Saker recommended this book

Losing Military Supremacy : the myopia of american strategic planning by Andrei Martyanov

I cite the chapter Threat Inflation Ideological Capture.

Here I recall he describes the extreme insular thinking and planning from US "Think Tanks"

In summary they are (my words – The all wise, the all knowing, the chosen ones who can do no wrong -: are, in reality, clueless about international relations and anything external to their nation's culture.)

I would not expect any uprising within the US against the Washington power brokers in the short term under todays current economic climate within the US.

The US political climate nonetheless does reveal US political institutions at war with each other – forget the personalities at play. quote Prof S Cohen

In the long term the US life style is not sustainable but what may arise is open for speculation as to when or how US society may degenerate further to collapse whatever that may look like.

The violence exported from this nation has been incredible – yes – against the indigeneous peoples of the world. Either by direct led adventurism or via proxis. The world reals from their banditry .

Too many nations have been destroyed and too many lifes have been lost: just to profit the few.

If I had included all those who participated in these violent and bloody actions I'd have named half the world one way or another. The old saying 'they also serve who pack and carry' should read 'they also commit crimes who build and provide' for all those who happily, and at immense profit, supply the main actors in this mess. Sooner or later it will all come home to roost, it always does, just ask the National Socialist German Workers' Party of 30's and early 40's fame.

The brutality of the Hegemon knows no borders.

But I tried to think in a practical sense too. The oil reserves of Syria in the NE are modest. Besides that, oil is pretty worthless unless it is refined.

So, what is the USA up to? At first it was clear that they simply deprive Syria of its resources, but what do they have in mind with this notorious smuggling train? Or better said, where is this oil heading for?

Turkey? No way, Erdogan would immediately have somebody tapping on his shoulder from the RF. To a harbour can easily be intercepted, same counts for Jordan.

And that leaves Iraq. The nearest refinery is in Mosul, in the Kurdish area of Iraq. If true, that would subscribe my gut feeling that the US Army is still up to 'something' there. Maybe a Kurdish statelet in Iraq, or an enclave with remaining ISIS mercenaries for all kinds of asymmetrical actions, or both. After all, one of the reasons of the wanted break-up of Syria was the wanted blocking of the Shia crescent on behalf of that Little Nation that fears Hezbollah.

My guess would be to expect a lot in Iraq the coming time.

Cheers, Rob

To a significant degree, America wants to control Syrian oil fields (and also agricultural lands) in order to prevent Syrian reconstruction.

Essentially, this is US warfare by other means—American economic terrorism to starve the Syrian people into submission, similar to the Leader of the Free World's economic siege warfare against Iran, Venezuela, Cuba, or North Korea.

The quote below summarizes this malign American behavior:

"Starving Syria of oil and wheat, the basics of survival

For the Syrian government, regaining control over its oil and gas reserves in the eastern part of its territory is crucial to paying for reconstruction efforts and social programs — especially at a time when suffocating US and EU sanctions have crippled the economy, caused fuel shortages, and severely hurt Syria's civilian population.

The US has aimed to prevent Damascus from retaking profitable territory, starving it of natural resources from fossil fuels to basic foodstuffs."

US troops are staying in Syria to 'keep the oil' – and have already killed hundreds over it

I think the US will only hold onto these oil fields for a short duration. Eventually the militants will be defeated & there will have to be some political settlement with the Kurds. US without kurdsh support dont have the men to keep them.

Secondly I read that oil fields & pump heads need huge amounts of electricity to run them. Syria has now regained control of the hydroelectric dams at Tabqa & Tishreen. They now control all the electric supply to the area so they can cut of those fields from the grid. I dont believe mobile generators are good enough to run oil fields
