

ALL NEWS SOUTH FRONT WATCH SCOTTS SANDBOX SELECT CMMT CAFE NON MSM NEWS
2019-11-25 2019-12-08 2018-11-22 2019-07-01 2019-10-22 2019-12-09

SAKER MESSAGE: No current Saker Message.

Making sense of the Paris summit: a quick analysis

4505 Views | December 09, 2019 | 40 Comments

The first thing we need to do is the remember what each participant wanted from this summit. Here is a summary of what I think (not how they officially stated it) each starting position was:

Zelenskii: key notion "a flexible approach" to the Minsk Agreements

- No direct negotiations with the LDNR
- No special status
- Ukrainian control of the border with Russia
- Disarmament of the LDNR "militias"
- Removal of all foreign forces (he means Russian forces, nevermind that they don't exist!)
- Creation of a "municipal police"
- Elections under Ukrainian control

Putin: key notion "Minsk Agreements cannot be changed"

- Kiev must negotiate with the LDNR
- A special status for the LDNR must be included in the Ukrainian Constitution
- The control of the border between the LDNR and Russia will be handed over only at the very end of the full implementation of the Minsk Agreements
- No Ukrainian forces inside the LDNR, even under the guise of a "municipal police"
- Completely free elections under international supervision

Merkel: key notion "Germany needs Russian gas and access to the Russian market"

- Economically, Germany needs this conflict solved
- Politically, Merkel personally needs to back the Ukrainian negotiating position and she agrees that the Minsk Agreements must be implemented "flexibly"

Macron: key notion "France as a whole and Macron personally need a deal with Russia"

- Macron is facing an extremely severe internal crisis; he needs to open the Russian markets to French products again and present that as an immense success.
- Macron sees that the US is losing Europe and he wants the personal credit for "solving" the conflict in the Ukraine to show that he and France, not Merkel and Germany, are the real leaders of Europe.

Finally, here is what was obviously agreed upon before the actual summit:

- A general ceasefire
- Exchange of prisoners

Now, setting aside all the verbal statements, comments, replies to journalists, etc. – here is what was actually agreed upon: (emphasis in red added by me, VS)

SUPPORT THE SAKER

SEARCH ARTICLES

Search... Submit

SAKER ARCHIVES

Saker Archives Select Month

ABOUT THE SAKER

About the Saker

Saker's values

Why do I live in the USA?

ABOUT THIS BLOG

Paris “Normandie” summit – Common agreed conclusions

The President of the French Republic, the Chancellor of the Federal Republic of Germany, the President of the Russian Federation and the President of Ukraine met in Paris today.

The Minsk agreements (Minsk Protocol of 5 September 2014, Minsk Memorandum of 19 September 2014 and the Minsk Package of Measures of 12 February 2015) continue to be the basis of the work of the Normandy format whose member states are committed to their full implementation.

They underline their shared aspiration to a sustainable and comprehensive architecture of trust and security in Europe, based on the OSCE principles, for which the settlement of the conflict in Ukraine is one of several important steps.

On this basis, they decide on the following:

1. Immediate measures to stabilize the situation in the conflict area

The sides commit to a full and comprehensive implementation of the ceasefire, strengthened by the implementation of all necessary ceasefire support measures, before the end of the year 2019.

They will support the development and implementation of an updated demining plan, on the basis of the decision of the Trilateral Contact Group on demining activities, dated March 3, 2016.

They will support an agreement within the Trilateral Contact Group on three additional disengagement areas, with the aim of disengaging forces and equipment by the end of March 2020.

They encourage the Trilateral Contact Group to facilitate the release and exchange of conflict-related detainees by the end of the year, based on the principle of “all for all”, starting with “all identified for all identified”, with the understanding that international organisations including the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) be granted full and unconditional access to all detained persons.

They will support an agreement within the Trilateral Contact Group, within 30 days, on new crossing points along the line of contact, based primarily on humanitarian criteria.

They recall that the Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe Special Monitoring Mission to Ukraine (SMM) should be able to use all possibilities of the 21 March 2014 mandate, and have safe and secure access throughout Ukraine in order to fully implement its mandate.

2. Measures to implement the political provisions of the Minsk agreements

The sides express interest in agreeing within the Normandy format (N4) and the Trilateral Contact Group on all the legal aspects of the Special Order of Local Self-Government – special status – of Certain Areas of the Donetsk and Luhansk Regions – as outlined in the Package of Measures for the Implementation of the Minsk Agreements from 2015 – in order to ensure its functioning on a permanent basis.

They consider it necessary to incorporate the “Steinmeier formula” into the Ukrainian legislation, in accordance with the version agreed upon within the N4 and the Trilateral Contact Group.

3. Follow up

They ask their Ministers of Foreign Affairs and Political Advisors to ensure the implementation of the agreements reached and they agree to have another meeting in this format within four months on the political and security conditions, inter alia for the organization of the local elections.

source: <https://www.elysee.fr/emmanuel-macron/2019/12/09/paris-normandie-summit.en>

Looks pretty self-evident to me but, still, I will offer my personal reaction to what just happened next.

First, let’s sum it up in plain language. First, the actual results:

- There might be a ceasefire
- There might be a prisoner exchange
- There might be future talks

Next, what has been reaffirmed:

- The Minsk Agreements are the only way out and cannot be changed
- The Steinmeier Formula is the only way out and cannot be changed

Again, I think that the outcome is rather obvious:

- Zelenskii achieved nothing
- Merkel achieved nothing
- Macron achieved a little
- Putin prevailed

Terminology

Moderation Policy (UPDATED December 10th, 2019)

Submission Guidelines

Interview Requests

COMMUNITY COOPERATIVE

ORTHODOX HISTORY

2019 ORTHODOX CALENDAR

Free Download (3.41MB PDF)

BOOKSHELF

SAKER'S BOOKS

Really, it's that simple.

Also, this was totally predictable. Zelenskii had no chance from the get go: the Ukronazis successfully completely paralyzed him; that is, assuming that he ever wanted to get anything done (I think that he probably did). The truth is that ANY meaningful outcome would have been interpreted by the Ukronazis (a minority in the Ukraine, but a very well armed and ruthless one) as a "betrayal" which would trigger a coup to overthrow Zelenskii (this is not my personal opinion, that is what the Nazi nutcases themselves promised on numerous occasions).

Merkel is old, sick and, frankly, looks like going on fumes. Besides, she has already caved in to her industry and business leaders who demanded NorthStream 2 and an end to sanctions (I will discuss that below). Of the four leaders present, Merkel was really only present pro forma anyway. The truth is that Germany is finally waking up from its US-induced coma and coming to terms with reality.

Macron got several things done: he looked very "statesmanlike" and he can claim that the summit was a success (well, of course, all sides said that, but in the case of Zelenskii and Merkel this is just words and damage control). Furthermore, he got a much needed distraction from his huge internal problems. But, most importantly, he completely upstaged Merkel who is old, stuck with her own mistakes and generally "going on fumes".

As for Putin, I don't think that he had any illusions (for obvious reasons, Russians understand the Ukraine much better than anybody else). Furthermore, I don't think that he really cared all that much. Why?

Because even though initially the Euromaidan coup was a huge crisis for Russia, this is not the case anymore. In fact, Russia really can afford to take a "wait and see" approach: the AngloZionist Empire is tanking, the EU is tanking, the Ukraine is tanking, but Russia is doing quite well, thank you, and time is on her side. Why?

First, Russia has operated an immense change of course following centuries of Europe-focused policies, Russia has now turned to the South (Latin America, Africa, Asian subcontinent) and, especially, to the East and China. For example, Russia has just started pumping gas through its immense "Power of Siberia" project. In economic terms, only Germany really matters to Russia (and even that, not vitally) and Russia will get from Germany what she wants (NS2 of course, but not only that).

Second, Russia really is doing fine with sanctions and, in fact, the Russian agroindustry hopes that sanctions will remain in place. In reality, there are plenty of sectors of the Russian economy which are doing great thanks to these sanctions which have literally forced Russia to reform. This is ironical, but the Russian nation owes a great debt of gratitude to the leaders of the AngloZionist Empire which, with their sanctions, have mitigated the worst aspects of the Russian membership in the WTO or its integration into political, financial and economic structures controlled by the USA.

Finally, it is pretty clear that the Ukraine has lost the war against the LDNR, and that WITHOUT overt Russian intervention. Which means that Putin's original decision NOT to intervene was the right one.

As for the Ukraine, she is basically finished. As is Zelenskii, by the way. For him, the ONLY chance to get anything done was to tackle the Neo-Nazis frontally and to use the support the vast majority of the people of the Ukraine gave him. He failed to do that. He is probably the poster-boy for the concepts of "failure" and "loser" but, in all fairness to him, he probably never had a chance.

So was there anything at all good about this summit?

Sure, some people will probably be exchanged before the end of the year and all sides agreed to more talk.

It ain't much, but it is the best one realistically could expect.

So what did NOT happen?

- No agreement on gas (officially not on the agenda, but present in everybody's mind)
- No full withdrawal of forces on the line of contact

Conclusion1 – The Big Question: what will the Nazis do next?

Clearly, the Nazi, who represent about 15 maybe 20 percent of the population will continue their drive to crush Zelenskii and his plans. Though Zelenskii caved in to pretty much all their demands, their political survival depends on creating and maintaining a crisis. They are fully aware that 80 percent or so of Ukrainians are categorically against their ideology, so if they can't get what they want by the ballot, then logically the bullet is their only choice. And, make no mistake, they risk big. What do they risk? Well, for starters, they risk losing all their sources of income,

The Essential Saker III
ORDER NOW

The Essential Saker II
PROOF PDF FREE DOWNLOAD

SCOTT'S BOOKS

Hell & Israel: Après Lavrov le déluge

A humorous account of the Russian Geographic Society (RGSC) intelligence unit's adventures during the Syrian war.

ORDER NOW

POKÉMON IN UKRAINE: Tactical War Game Introduction Manual

FREE DOWNLOAD

THE PRESENTATION DEC 4TH

they risk disappointing their US bosses, they risk being prosecuted and jailed for lengthy jail terms and they even risk their very lives (by the state or by lynchings). They know that very well. But that is not even the most important thing. What matters most is this:

The Ukraine was a russophobic chimera created by the Papacy and endorsed by ALL subsequent European regimes, rulers and powers that be. The Euromaidan coup marked the apogee of this ideology. From now on it's all downhill not because the Ukrainian people suddenly all fell in love with their Russian roots or with Putin (although the latter is debatable), but because that ideology brought nothing but death, suffering, disgrace and abject failure to the Ukraine. I was listening to Sergei Kurginian (a very smart, if controversial, Russian expert) who explained that what we see today in the Ukraine is not a state, it is what he called the "illusion of statehood". He is spot on and I can only agree with him.

Conclusion2: the Ukraine will break-up

Never say never, right? And dramatic reversals do happen. Even miracles sometimes. But my personal feeling is that the Ukraine will break-up. The LDNR will join Russia, the western Ukraine will either be absorbed by its western neighbors, if not politically, then at least economically. That western Ukraine might even join NATO. What will happen with the southern and north-central Ukraine is hard to predict, but the geostrategic realities being what they are, their best chance is to become a neutral bridge of some sort between the EU and the Russian civilizational realm (RF, Belarus, Kazakhstan, etc.). Sounds extreme? Let me explain then my reasons:

1. A unitary Ukraine inside her official borders will never happen again because the LDNR will never EVER agree to be ruled by Kiev. Sure, a pretend-integration in which the LDNR is part of some kind of confederate Ukraine was probably possible until today, now that train has apparently left.
2. Even in the rump-Ukraine (minus the LDNR and Crimea) the real neo-Nazis are a small minority, strongly associated with the western provinces of the Ukraine which were added to the Ukraine by Stalin (Russian Communist don't like to remember that one, any more than they like to remember that their hero Lenin was the one who gave the Ukraine its statehood). In other words, in historical terms the only real russophobic Ukraine is the western Ukraine, a much MUCH smaller piece of land. I can't imagine the southern and central regions of the rump-Ukraine will accept to be ruled by "zapadentsy" ("западенцы" meaning "westerners") Banderites.
3. The western Ukraine is rather poor, underdeveloped and rural/agricultural. In sharp contrast, the southern Ukraine was always rather rich thanks to a lot of advanced industries (they even built aircraft carriers!) and, culturally speaking, they have absolutely nothing in common with the "zapadentsy" nutcases (if only because the southern Ukraine is a fantastic mix of nationalities and religions!).
4. As for Kiev, historically called the "mother of Russian cities", she will probably become the scene of a huge struggle between the Neonazis and the rest of the Ukrainian people, but in the end the historical reality will prevail and she will inevitably join the Russian civilizational realm in some form or another.

It happens that a break-up is probably the best realistic outcome to begin with (I explained why in details here).

Conclusion3: why the Ukraine is dead

Think of the Ukraine as a human body afflicted with a malignant tumor. That tumor is the russophobic ideology created by the Papacy. It is clear that it must be excised for the rest of the body to survive. But, as we all know, how do you kill/remove the tumor without killing the body? I am not talking about a distinct Ukrainian identity, which has ALWAYS existed for simple and undeniable historical reasons: the history of the people who live in today's Ukraine has been different from the rest of the Russian people for centuries. For example, Russians in what is the Russian Federation never lived under longterm Polish occupations, whereas Ukrainian Russians did. Another example: the "Old Rite" schism, which was a huge tragedy for Russia, never really happened in the Polish-occupied Ukraine. Finally, the German Nazis invaded the Ukraine and took Kiev. They were stopped in Moscow (and in Stalingrad or Leningrad). So there are REAL distinctions between Ukrainian Russians and, let's say, "northern Russians". But distinctions or differences do not imply any hatred or, even less so, the creation ex nihilo of an invented nation with an invented history. As long as the Ukraine was a "Ukraine of the Russian civilizational realm" there was no problem. In fact, most Russians have very warm feelings for the Russian Ukraine. But a neo-Nazi rabidly russophobic Papist (or Uniast/schismatic) Ukraine was an impossible project from Day 1 and now this is slowly becoming understood even by the Russia-hating West (at least amongst those in the West who are still in touch with reality, including the historical reality).

Conclusion4: an oncological metaphor explains it best

Click on the icon for an explanation of the feast of the Entry of our Most Holy Lady Theotokos into the Temple December 4th

POPULAR POSTS LAST 90 DAYS

September 11, 2019
President Macron's amazing admission

September 24, 2019
Saker rant: reaction to the Dems attempt to impeach Trump

October 23, 2019
Revisiting the win-win-win-win outcome in Syria

October 02, 2019
New weapons and the new tactics which they make possible: three examples

October 18, 2019
The Road to Damascus: How the Syria War was Won

SAKER PODCASTS

SAKER CHANNELS

A tumor must be excised by radiation, hormonal therapy or a scalpel for the patient to survive, right? But that requires an oncological surgeon determined to clear the body from this aberration. I don't see such a surgeon today. No, Putin won't do it. Why? Because Russia neither needs nor wants to assume that role. She could, but it would be violent and bloody. Almost nobody in Russia wants that, and Putin least of all. The EU is also dying and does not have the means to "take the scalpel", primarily because they gave the Neo-Nazi "Ukro-tumor" a standing ovation during the Euromaidan coup. The US has much more power, but since it also backed the Euromaidan to the hilt, don't expect any US President or, even less so, Congress, to admit that they backed Nazis against freedom loving Christians! They simply cannot do that.

Thus, while in theory, the "body" of the Ukraine could/should be clear from the Urkonazi tumor, there is nobody out there willing and able to do it.

Some will tell me that Russia has the means to take this role. Yes, in terms of capability she can. But the reality is that nobody in Russia wants Russia to take that role. At most, Russia will back those Ukrainians who have taken up arms and have resisted the Nazis, both in Crimea and in the Donbass. In pure theory, the borders of the LDNR could be moved west, but not too far. As one LDNR military commander once observed (sorry, I do not recall who it was) "the further west we go, the less we are seen as liberators and the more we are seen as the occupiers". He is right. The very last thing Russia needs today is to include tens or even hundred of thousands of unemployed Neo-Nazis into Russia!

As I have said a million times by now, Russia has no interest in acquiring more land, or more folks to support (remember: the Ukrainian economy is dead and the country deindustrialized). Yes, Russia will never allow an Ukronazi genocide against the people of the LDNR and, in time, she might even incorporate the LDNR, but that's it. By the way, Poroshenko in a moment of exasperation once told Putin "want the Donbass – then take it!". Putin replied "niet". It was the only possible and correct answer.

Last conclusion: when reality and ideology, reality always wins, even if it takes time

The Euromaidan coup and the subsequent civil war prove, once again, that in the struggle between ideology and reality, the latter always prevails, even if it takes time. In this case, it took almost 1000 years or, if you have a much smaller historical perspective, it took 28 years or even just 5 years. The result is the same: the russophobic "independent Ukraine" was a chimera, an illusion or, at best, an attempt by the imperialist West to try to weaken Russia. After many ups and downs, this project has failed. And, crucially, it has failed whether the folks in the West understand it or not.

But then, the entire West's imperial project is now tanking, so the Ukraine is just part of a much bigger process.

At the end, the West will have to give up its imperial ambitions. Which is good for the planet, of course, but also for the people of the West who will, sooner or later, recover their status as one of the most important and powerful civilization in history (even without its imperialist inclinations!). But, just as that was the case with all empires (including the Russian one!), this will only come when western imperialism finally follows all other imperialisms: it will die and toss its "imperial" illusions into the "trash bins of history" where it will join all other forms of imperialism in history.

And that is very, very good result.

The Saker

The Essential Saker III: Chronicling The Tragedy, Farce And Collapse of the Empire in the Era of Mr MAGA

Order Now

SAKER NEWS RSS PAGE

Reader Contributed News Items

RSS FRENCH SAKER

La campagne américaine pour affaiblir « l'axe de résistance » en Iran est en échec

Comment écraser une dictature de banquiers ? La leçon de 1933

Qui tire des bénéfices de l'agitation en Iran ?

RSS RUSSIAN SAKER

Взгляд из Америки. Могут ли Россия (или Иран) выжить Без Китая

США тешат себя рассказами об устаревших Су-57 и прекрасных F-35, отстав от русских на 40 лет

Последние дни Империи: США захотели ударить по Ирану дешево и быстро

RSS ITALIAN SAKER

Vertice del Formato Normandia per il futuro dell'Ucraina: cosa c'è in gioco?

La Nato è "cl clinicamente morta"

Gran Bretagna al voto, analisi con Leni Remedios e Stefano Orsi

RSS LATIN AMERICAN

PT — Manlio Dinucci — A Arte da Guerra — O uso militar escondido da tecnologia 5G

Rusia advierte contra la "opción nuclear" de Estados Unidos: Bloquear el acceso a SWIFT sería una "Declaración de guerra"

Los neonazis ucranianos acuden al movimiento de protesta de Hong Kong

RSS SERBIAN SAKER

Мило Ломпар: Најватренији националисти издали себе да би досегли привилегије власти у полукопираној земљи

Драго Драговић: Покрадени референдум и Ђукановићева приватна држава

Војислав М. Станојчић: Хандке, наш

The Essential Saker II: Civilizational Choices and Geopolitics / The Russian challenge to the hegemony of the AngloZionist Empire

Order Now

TAGGED Saker analysis

LEAVE A REPLY

Leave a Reply

Click here to get more info on formatting [+]

Comment

Empty comment box

Name:

Name..

E-mail:

E-mail..

Post a comment

40 COMMENTS

Anonymous on December 09, 2019 · at 11:43 pm EST/EDT

The Age of Imperialism is coming to an end, but unfortunately, the elite would rather trigger a global nuclear conflict and kill billions than allow their power to be taken from them.

The tricky part now is to depose them and avoid a nuclear war while simultaneously bringing the USA back into being a normal country.

What needs to be understood is that this world's elite who rule over the west (and much of the globe) very much intentionally, deliberately plan to trigger a nuclear war. They plan for it everyday, and they are perfectly willing to sacrifice the lives of billions. Their plan has to be stopped for the global transformation to be successfully completed and world peace to proliferate. Because if there is a nuclear war it will take thousands of years to recover and the elite will use that time to enslave as many of the survivors that they can, perpetuating the cycle of self-destruction and endless war and slavery for thousands of years.

This won't be easy, but it has to be done. There is no other choice.

Reply

Imperialism ANZ Alive and Well on December 10, 2019 · at 12:28 am „брат у свијету“

SELECT 9/11 TRUTH LINKS

9/11 Research

9/11 Truth

Architects and Engineers for 9/11 Truth

Complete 9/11 Timeline

Journal of 9/11 Studies

9/11 consensus

EST/EDT

China is building the largest deep water port in the world at Ashdod Israel, in exchange for paying and building the port, China has also promised to be 'security' for Israels nuclear marine fleet, this is essentially SCO without being a member. Of course the USA has gone completely nutz about this port, but Israel just ignores them.

Israel is already an active member of AIIB (Chinese IMF)

The USA is not a member of SCO (of course), nor are they a member of AIIB (But BIS Swiss is)

...

The Imperial ANZ is alive and well, even if the USA is a dead man walking.

The USA has outlived its usefulness, just like the EU, or any of the ANZ 'East India Company' colonys. The 'Pivot to Asia', is really about the ANZ flushing the toilet on the USA, and resetting the 'reserve currency' and letting Israel become a major player in printing its own SDR fiat to infinity like China will soon, and Russia as well.

There's probably also a lot of people involved on the inside of the USA in this pivot to AIIB/SCO even though they remain silent or on the fence. Most likely like the impeachment show, or the brexit show, Trumps 'fake hate of china' is most likely also for show, because Trump (hardcore anz mobster) knows that during the reset he's going to be able to buy all of NY for $24 of 'gold' just like the pilgrims did.

Reply

King Lear on December 10, 2019 · at 4:41 am EST/EDT

I agree with you that most here (including the Saker), are sadly mistaken about the true nature of "Red" China, and its refreshing to finally here someone address the 800 pound gorilla in the room, that "Red" China is not going to pave the way towards creating a Multipolar world order, and instead it's a tool of the (((Globalists))) to maintain their rule while simultaneously getting many suckers on board the "Belt and Road" to Zion. However, I disagree with you that "Red" China is going to replace the U$ as Unipolar hegemon, instead I view "Red" China as the secret partner of the U$ (ie. The G2 arrangement) to maintain U$ leadership of the Global, (((Liberal))), rules-based order, by luring U$ regime change targets (Russia and Iran) to become dependent on its "Belt and Road", so that they can be handed to the U$ on a platter once daddy Xi betrays them (like Mao did to the Soviet Union), while simultaneously "Red" China provides a billion cheap slaves (the U$-owned sweatshops and factories that still define "Red" Chinas "Socialist" economy) to (((Wall Street))) that help prop up the U$ equity prices.

Reply

B.F. on December 10, 2019 · at 6:44 am EST/EDT

King Lear

What you have written is debatable. The globalists may have influence in Hong Kong, as attested by current demonstrations sponsored by the West. However, when it come to China as such, it's not easy to accept that it's under globalist control. The opium trade of the 19th century has not been forgotten in China, nor the fact who introduced it. China again becoming a globalist puppet ? I think not.

Reply

hypocrisy on December 10, 2019 · at 7:51 am EST/EDT

The Billionaires of HK, had a real estate agenda, the State-Department of USA supplied the ukro-nazi's to teach the kids (spoiled brats) to make molotov cocktails,

But what happened in HK, has really not a damn thing to do with the real world, about as important as the impeachment, or the brexit, or frexit

Reply

ANZ on December 10, 2019 · at 7:53 am EST/EDT

One other thing that is not even debatable, while 'saker' we all know despises the ANZ, the majority of the OP's and the commenters here are 100% Hasbara, just like Moon-of-Alabama, and of course ZeroHedge, the lynch-pin of ANZ Serco Nazi-HQ owns ABC-Media-LTD, which owns ZH

Reply

The Saker on December 10, 2019 · at 11:52 am EST/EDT

Hi King Lear

I have a request: please stop the silly ((())) business.

There are plenty of other websites where these brackets are seen as meaningful.

This is not one of them.

Thank you

The Saker

Reply

amarynth on December 10, 2019 · at 12:47 pm EST/EDT

And while you are about it, also stop the silly "Red" China business. thank-you.

Reply

King Lear on December 10, 2019 · at 4:58 am EST/EDT

I agree with you that most here (including the Saker), are sadly mistaken about the true nature of China, and its refreshing to finally here someone address the 800 pound gorilla in the room, that China is not going to pave the way towards creating a Multipolar world order, and instead it's a tool of the Globalists to maintain their rule while simultaneously getting many suckers on board the "Belt and Road" to Zion. However, I disagree with you that China is going to replace the US$ as Unipolar hegemon, instead I view China as the secret partner of the US$ (ie. The G2 arrangement) to maintain US$ leadership of the Global, Liberal, rules-based order, by luring US$ regime change targets (Russia and Iran) to become dependent on its "Belt and Road", so that they can be handed to the US$ on a platter once daddy Xi betrays them (like Mao did to the Soviet Union), while simultaneously China provides a billion cheap slaves (the US$-owned sweatshops and factories that still define Chinas "Socialist" economy) to Wall Street that help prop up the US equity prices.

Reply

ross a on December 10, 2019 · at 4:31 am EST/EDT

There will be no recovery from a nuclear war Period..... well researched 30,000 nuclear war heads will see to that (US and Russia alone have that ... give or take.... Ref : abolition caucus ...

Nuclear power stations will melt down, spent fuel pools will burst into flames in hours of cooling being interrupted

Thus the massive amount of nuclear radiation and residue will begin to render planet unliveable...

Not to mention

Fire storms will eat all combustable materials everywhere....

The ash cloud will be so dense that the sun will be blocked for ... decades ...

and the earth will hit sub zero temps... nothing will grow

those who escape to bunkers will live and die there there will be no next generation....

dont lets begin one

Reply

Ризки Рамадхан on December 10, 2019 · at 7:04 am EST/EDT

Just a quick comment.

Speaking of nuclear war. If things yet to change for good, at least 2000 warheads are on high status alert, ready to be deployed instantly from both US & Russian sides. I don't remember the source but it was from twitter of nuclear weapons watcher (i don't remember what it is exactly).

The big question is that when will it take place? The Armageddon, Al malhama Al Kubro, World War 3, the end times battle. I do not want to know and I do not wish to know. But anyway, it is an interesting topic to talk about with. Especially, if we truly concern about the safety of our children and family and our people. However, that is truly very hard one to discuss, because at the end, surely death is better than to live on post-apocalyptic world, except maybe like me, we wish to see the appearance of the True Messiah, jesus pbuh, and to see how world ends from our very own eyes. Thanks.

Reply

Alabama on December 10, 2019 · at 7:45 am EST/EDT

Dont hold your breath waiting for the beloved messiah, he would just as eagerly watch you suffocate as wait to see how the world ends, especially if it doesn't end in his likeness.

Reply

Larchmonter445 on December 09, 2019 · at 11:44 pm EST/EDT

First, a very good and valuable summary of today's Normandy Four in Paris. Saker delivers every fact, as well as his studious opinion in analysis.

Gas was a question posed to Putin in the presser. He indicated that Russia would give a 25% discount to industrial customers not individuals. So terms of the talks between Naftogas and Gazprom are not done. They also fight over $3 billion dollars Ukraine got from Russia right before the coup in 2014. That was a loan, still unpaid.

The key thing for me in today's meeting is the fear and trepidation Zelinskii shows when faced with his military. He cannot order it to back out of the contact zone and move all the heavy guns, tanks, snipers and big mortars according to Minsk 2, 70 km from the neutral zone. A president who can't control a military is a puppet.

He said in the presser he can't move ten miles back. So the ceasefire will never ever occur.

Not only is he threatened by Right Sektor forming a new Maidan in Kiev, but Biletsky and his Azov Battalion will then take control of the government.

In fact, the other day I read a Russian analyst suggesting he should pick his home in Rostov, Russia which is where Yanukovich was sequestered after Russian special forces rescued him as he ran for his life.

Since they will meet in four months, that meeting will focus on stopping the election in Donbass. Kiev desperately wants no election. It has been postponed every year since 2015. In fact, Zakharchenko was ready to defy Moscow over it last year. His assassination of course ended that desire by the DNR to go ahead and have their vote.

I suspect that this next year Putin will let it go ahead. He looked and talked like a man who has had enough of the death and destruction from the Ukies. He was not going to concede anything in "negotiations". By next March or April, if and when they meet again, it looks like it might be the end of the little comedian puppet president of Ukraine if he hasn't gotten control of his military.

The next meeting could be just like how Putin treated Porky, by not directly talking to him. Merkel would be the go-between. All the blood from here on is on Zelenski. He says all he wants is Peace, but he has not ordered a ceasefire for six months. He hasn't backed one tank out of the grey zone they illegally entered.

Remember that the UNSC signed onto the Minsk 2 Accords. Russia can use that authority to enforce the specifications in the Agreement.

Ukraine got their Normandy Four meeting, but they got nothing else today. Just a reminder that there are 13 steps in the Minsk 2 Accords and they have no other future unless they take those 13 steps.

Reply

Ted Heath PM on December 10, 2019 · at 5:36 am EST/EDT

Give them enough rope and they'll hang themselves, as the saying goes, I think rather sums up Putin's attitude.

Merkel couldn't care less. Macron is just a poseur doing as he is told by his boss the Rothschilds. Zelinsky is a comedian who is completely out of his depth. He is a Jew just like Porky so you know he is a devious self seeking backstabber.

It is just chaos which is the perpetual aim of the Zionazi regimes in the USA and the EU/UK. It is from chaos that the Jews can make the most profit.

I'd say the Empire is being very successful and is not tanking. Out of chaos comes excessive profit. Of course, the most profit for Jews, is made from the chaos of war, but you can't have everything these days, so Ukraine will have to do.

If the EU does tank then Europe will become part of China...and Asia sans Russia will become communist. Interesting really because Capitalism is at the other end of the same branch as Communism. The one can't survive without the other.

Then all that's left is National Socialism where share trading, currency speculation and usury are prohibited. No wonder the Jews hate it despite the obvious similarities to Zionism.

And don't think you'll escape all this Larchy, in the antipodes as you are!

Reply

Auslander on December 10, 2019 · at 9:53 am EST/EDT

When Mutti et al ran to Moskau in the late summer/early fall of '14, the only purpose of the stampede was to stop NAF from totally destroying the orc army. At that time, the orcs had managed to come south on the east side of Lughansk Oblast along the border with Russia and were making their way north from the south side of Donetsk Oblast, they had both areas almost surrounded.

Say what you want about Strelkov, his defense was masterful and his retreat from Slavyansk/Kramatorsk to Donetsk City in early July, under the very noses of the orcs, was epic. By doing so, he had accomplished his task of holding the orcs off from Donetsk and the area between the to oblasti. However, he often bemoaned the fact that, according to him, few 'young' men were rallying to the colours. He was being not quite truthful. He organized the 'older' veterans to hold off the orcs whilst sending the younger men, all of whom were also veterans, to Rostov for training and equipping.

When all hell broke loose on the orcs in what is known now as The Summer Cauldrons, 'the west', in particular Uncle Sugar and Mutti, were stunned at the instant, read less than ten minutes, and total obliteration of two orc armor regiments comfortably sitting on the steps as they planned to attack Lughansk from the east and south....and not 'dug in' in the slightest. More than a few of the orcs ran for the Russian border and safety, the vast majority of the rest now molder in unmarked graves on the flat lands. Who done it? Da West said 'Russia attacked'. Anyone with a lick of sense knew, and it was said often, that the younger veterans cut their training in Rostov short and came running home to alleviate the crisis. With a vengeance. The icing on the cake was Saur Mogaleh, the monument high on the highest hill for many miles, held out for weeks against the best the orcs and their handlers could send against them. If those heroes had not held that hill, the orcs possibly would have seen what was coming and history would be changed.

Putin is the world's finest statesman and he masterfully played Mutti, Golland, the orcs and 'da west'. They would have, and did, sign anything to save their darling maidanchiki. Of course, they had no idea of actually honoring what they signed, they were simply hell bent on saving the remains of the orc armies.

Not six months later, after months of fighting and bloodshed, both innocent (way too many innocents) and soldiers, the orcs had positioned themselves to sever Donetsk from Lughansk and their plan was to turn on Donetsk and Gorlovka and attack from east, west and south, an untenable position for Donetsk to be in. It was at this critical time that NAF, Novorossiia Armed Forces, came in to being and they promptly surrounded the orcs in their main base in Debaltsyevu in a combined operation involving Donetsk and Lughansk battalions and lanced north to almost the demarcation line, not that the orcs or their handlers had done anything to abide by the Minsk accords and stay north of that line. The shock to the orcs and handlers was the sudden appearance of Lughansk battalions that were fully equipped, trained and working in tandem with Donetsk battalions. Da West, and many from my area, regarded the Lughansk oblast and units as the weak sisters of the alliance simply because you generally heard not much about them. Still waters run deep.

So here's the orcs, surrounded and being pounded again, and an agreement was reached in that the orcs and their several hundreds of foreign advisers including numerous Americans, Germans and Poles would withdraw through a corridor up to the north demarcation line. The deal was they could take their personal weapon, one backpack, and travel north in trucks. All artillery, all tanks, all BTR's and BMP's, all equipment and all supply including some interesting devices brought in by the western 'advisers' was to stay in place. The 'advisers', the golden pheasants, were evacuated first and they did abide to the letter of the agreement, in the process leaving some interesting goodies lying around.

The orcs, being orcs, at the very first sent a few units north as agreed, and then they tried to take arty, tanks, AFV's and all their loot with them plus having the idiotic impulse to toss a few rounds in the general direction of NAF watching them withdraw. And the fight was on. No one will ever know how many thousands of orcs died in that trek, and more than a few who tried to run from the corridor somehow managed to meet up with locals, said locals having armed up from abandoned orc weaponry. I've heard that their hospitality was somewhat less than stellar. So here's Mutti, Golland and Porky faced with another debacle so back they run to Putin, who nails them to a cross with another agreement.

Since that second disaster, almost five years of sanctions, vitriol and general nastiness against Russia in general and Putin in particular have taken their toll, and this time when Mutti, Macron and Zelenski, the 'new blood' in 'control', came almost hat in hand they got short shrift. What a surprise. Their countries signed the agreements, UN put their stamp of approval on said agreements and arrangements, and Mutti, who is dead, Macron, who is wet behind the ears, and Zelenski, who is a puppet, seemed to be a bit nonplussed at their reception. What the h// did they expect? And Zelenski starts out with whining to include Krimu and Sevastopol in the agreements and received precisely zero reply.

Bottom line, Germany and France guaranteed both agreements, as did UN. Not one single part of either agreement has been honored by Germany, France or Ukraine, not a single word. Macron may have fond dreams of being the new head dog in Europe but he has a lot to learn. Mutti has had at least one, and probably more, strokes so she's done for, and the parties in at least Freistaat Bayern will be legendary when she's gone. UN? Who cares, another toothless lion whose time is waning. Ergo, the useless motions of having a meeting with them was a waste of energy and valuable time, with the one glaring exception of V V Putin telling them how the world turns.

So be it, the die is cast. The orcs are living on borrowed time. Poland and Hungary are looking at 'west' Ukraine and salivating, dreaming of their past, and totally dead, empires. Novorossiia will align itself with Russia lock, stock and barrel, and reality is this has already happened. It is possible that the rest of Donetsk and Lughansk Oblasti will eventually unite with Novorossiia, but who knows when or even if. Central Ukraine, north and south? I have no doubts that Kherson Oblast on the north Krimu borders would love to join Russia. Odessa and surrounding regions, no one has a clue. The rump of Ukraine will end up being in essence 'Kiev Oblast' and stagger on for some time, but in the end The Borderlands will return to being all they can be....Border Lands between Russia and a never ending and continuously rapacious Europe.

Auslander

Author <http://rhauslander.com/>

Never The Last One: <https://www.amazon.com/dp/1521849056> A tour de force of the emergence of Russia.

An Incident On Simonka: <https://www.amazon.com/dp/1696160715>
NATO is invited to leave Sevastopol, one way or the other.

Reply

James2 on December 09, 2019 · at 11:45 pm EST/EDT

Hello Saker

Thanks for this summary of the summit

There is a lot to digest and think about – even though in the face Of it nothing happened.

Have a few questions

1. I also read on Colonel Cassad that Mr Lavrov has flown to Washington to discuss with Trump and Pompeo – do you have a view on this. Is this of any significance?

2. Also do you think Zelensky will be ousted in 2020 – he was elected to take a different path than Poroshenko but is acting no differently

3. What options do the people of Ukraine have? They wanted peace – rapprochement with Russia

Reply

Sandra on December 10, 2019 · at 3:20 am EST/EDT

Finally, it is pretty clear that the Ukraine has lost the war against the LDNR, and that WITHOUT overt Russian intervention. Which means that Putin's original decision NOT to intervene was the right one.

That is hardly certain. If Russia has provided more support to Ukraine during the right moment the coup might have been warded off or a larger segment of Ukraine might have fallen under pro-Russian control beyond the sliver in Donbas. Russia had the written agreement by the democratically elected president of Ukraine to intervene in Ukraine. If Russia had just told Yanukovich to move his administration to Donbass, making Donetsk his provisional capital instead during the crisis.

Then Yanukovich could declare all those oligarchs that supported the coup as traitors and seize their assets and houses, and declared that pro-Russian pro-Ukrainian anti-fascist militias should rise up in every town to defend Ukraine from pro-USA Nazis, which they would all the way from Crimea and Donbass up to central Ukraine. Russia could then send in special forces into Ukraine, to support those orders and seize the pro-USA oligarchs and their houses, seize TV and radio station in central and east of Ukraine and countered the pro-coup propaganda.

Instead Russia promised EU/USA that they would not intervene. And allowed the coup to happen. And now Russia has an eternal war at its border that USA can escalate anytime it wishes.

Reply

B.F. on December 10, 2019 · at 6:28 am EST/EDT

Sandra

But it is certain that Ukraine lost the war against the LDNR. There is not much that the Ukrainian military, made up of conscripts, can do against the Russians in the Donbass, who are dug in, prepared for any Ukrainian aggressive move. You don't use conscripts to fight a war, especially conscripts who do not wish to fight.

Reply

? on December 10, 2019 · at 3:21 am EST/EDT

Very clear read for an outsider like me ;) Thanks Saker

Question: Do they actually called themselves 'Nazis' in Ukie? I am asking if there is a 'root cause' for this or is it just language and labelling enemy?!

Pls keep us update about that region. I personally foresee a china-led effort to rebuild Ukie in very near future. China, if granted, can move a 1 million task force there and get 'The PPL of Ukie' back to living condition in 6 month or so. In and out. Will cost less than 5 billion ;)

@Imperialism ANZ Alive and Well

Loaded but...

"The Imperial ANZ is alive and well, even if the USA is a dead man walking" is more like...

The Imperial ANZ is a dead man walking but know when to jump ship, even if the USA is way past an autopsy, post-mortem examination, obduction, necropsy, and autopsia cadaverum but just refuse to issue an official death certificate. Instead they keep BANKING on lies and deceit and deception, which they learn from their handler master, IS(not)REAL.

BUT pls do note, after the Brazilian experience, I would think, the east has learned the lesson to keep all splinters out of the important vitals and inner part. That's just common sense.

The last sentence on da orange man could be his 'personal motive' for hanging in there...

OH! I do miss my Ukie babies. I did promise them that one day they can take their money to the bank and ask for gold in exchange. They asked me 'can they do that tomorrow?' I said they will have to wait 20 years, but Putin will guarantee that, of which then they cut of my chat line. HA :D that was about 15yrs++ ago...

pls do be safe

Reply

amarynth on December 10, 2019 · at 6:47 am EST/EDT

Of course "there are no real Nazis in the Ukraine" – we all know that already :-)

Please go and search on this exact phrase on thesaker.is and you will see "there are no Nazis in the Ukraine" .. absolutely not and no ukronazis either .. for sure.

Here is a start : <http://thesaker.is/?s=there+are+no+nazis+in+the+ukraine>

(Of course, all posted tongue in cheek, because Nazi'ism is alive and well .. do go and make that search.)

And no, China is not coming to the rescue.

Reply

Fox on December 10, 2019 · at 3:57 am EST/EDT

iThink of the Ukraine as a human body afflicted with a malignant tumor. That tumor is the russophobic ideology created by the Papacy. i Whaaaaat? Source please. Italy is like the most pro-Russian place Europe.

Reply

B.F. on December 10, 2019 · at 6:22 am EST/EDT

Fox

Please distinguish the Papacy (Vatican) from Italy, as the Vatican is an independent country, even though it's situated in Rome.

Orthodox Christians were never accepted by the Vatican, as each Orthodox country has it's patriarch, making both country and church independent from Rome, contrary to the basic Catholic principle of a universal church controlled by the pope.

When it come to Ukraine, the Vatican tried the "unionist" approach, introducing a Unionist Orthodox Ukrainian Church on condition that very same church recognized the pope as it's spiritual head. It did not work out too well, the power of the Russian Orthodox Church being supreme in Ukraine.

Reply

Craig Mouldey on December 10, 2019 · at 10:38 am EST/EDT

A very long time ago the Papists decided the Pope was the sole authority over all the Christian world, rather than following the collegial approach where all the Bishops have equal say, as it had been during the 7 ecumenical councils. In keeping with this, they then added an expression to the statement of universal faith, the Nicene Creed without any consultation with any other Bishops. Eventually, as this hierarchy descended further into heresy they concluded it was not enough that their Pope is monarch over all Christians but is also monarch over the kings of the world, creating their version of God's kingdom on earth. They ignored that Christ God said 'my kingdom is not of this world'. With this in mind, they have spread their doctrine by force if necessary over the planet. Ireland used to be Orthodox but was forced to bow to the Pope. They captured Poland which helps to explain why the Poles hate Russia so much. When the Bolshevik revolution occurred, Rome used the occasion of mass murder of Orthodox priests, Bishops, and everyday believers to try to work their way into the good books of the communists and gain a foothold in Russia. It wasn't until they realized it wasn't going to happen that they finally spoke against the communists. They got their foothold in Ukraine with the lovely NAZI's. I've not heard the Vatican speak against what is happening there. 'By their fruits, you will know them'. Look how these heretics behave in Ukraine toward the canonical Church. With violence and theft. I've heard numerous Roman Catholics voice the opinion that according to the mystery of Fatima Russia has to submit to the Holy Virgin and come into the Roman Church. Russia is already dedicated to the Holy Virgin and Christ. I shudder whenever I see Patriarch Kiril meeting with that Pope, Franky. They cannot be trusted and cooperation with them is to work with heretics. So, I think Saker is corrected in saying this is a poison brought to Ukraine by the Vatican.

Reply

The Saker on December 10, 2019 · at 12:57 pm EST/EDT

Hi Fox,

Before going "Whaaaaat?" you might want to read up on the topic.

Maybe begin here: <https://thesaker.is/ukrainian-nationalism-its-roots-and-nature/>

Thank you

The Saker

Reply

JJ on December 10, 2019 · at 4:10 am EST/EDT

Ukraine premeeting report

Danilov seems to be a prime mover(possibly a usurper of Z????)...earlier had said people in Donbass should either be tried as criminals...accept Ukraine or go to Russia.....I suppose that is why Z refers to occupied territories not just by the military. There are other conclusions they reached at the meeting called "scenarios" whatever that might mean.....truth.. lies...provocations..false flags ..come to mind. Wonder what they are.

At today's meeting, chaired by President of Ukraine Volodymyr Zelenskyy, a decision has been made unanimously on three issues submitted to the Council, Secretary of the National Security and Defense Council of Ukraine Oleksiy Danilov reported.

According to Mr. Danilov, the NSDC of Ukraine, as instructed by the President of Ukraine, developed several scenarios of the reintegration of the temporarily occupied territories of Donetsk and Luhansk regions, and today one of them has been adopted and "will be implemented as the main one".

In this context, the NSDC Secretary noticed that the key issues for the Ukrainian authorities are, in particular, the return of our prisoners held in captivity in the Russian Federation, Crimea and the temporarily occupied territories of Donetsk and Luhansk regions; cease-fire; turning over control of the Ukrainian-Russian border to Ukraine, and after that – the issue of elections. "We have a great desire for these elections to take place throughout the whole territory of Ukraine", – Mr. Danilov said adding that: "I would like them to take place in the Crimea as well, but unfortunately it is not possible yet".

"But we do not remove the issue of Crimea from the agenda. This issue is no less crucial for us, – he underscored. – We will defend our land, the land that belongs to Ukraine, we will defend our territorial integrity".

The second issue discussed at the meeting, according to Mr. Danilov, was the creation of a system of territorial defense, and First Deputy to the Secretary of the NSDC of Ukraine Colonel-General Mykhailo Koval was appointed responsible for its implementation. By December 31, 2020, he said, all constituent legal and organizational issues should be settled, noticing that "volunteers who would like to join and those who had returned from the front will be involved" in the process.

The third issue put before the NSDC members was the issue of cybersecurity, the NSDC Secretary stated adding that “every day we experience attacks on our cyberspace from certain territories”.

Answering journalists’ questions, Oleksiy Danilov pointed out that the authorities are ready for any outcome in the context of the Normandy format negotiations – “if we agree; if we partly agree; if we do not agree”.

“All government bodies, the Armed Forces, special services are ready for any scenario, – he stated. – Events will evolve depending on how the December 9 talks are conducted and what conditions are reached”. The NSDC Secretary expressed his hope that the negotiations, in which a “powerful team” of experts from Ukraine will participate, will be successful for Ukraine.

In this regard, Oleksiy Danilov stressed that the President of Ukraine will not allow “any surrender of national interests or any capitulation”.

All rights, reserved by National Security and Defense Council of Ukraine.”

Seems to me Z just trying to buy time again...had to be reminded by Putin that border control is after the elections....read Minsk he said.

Reply

Tom Welsh on December 10, 2019 · at 12:55 pm EST/EDT

“Danilov....earlier had said people in Donbass should either be tried as criminals...accept Ukraine or go to Russia...”

“Shan’t”.

Reply

JJ on December 10, 2019 · at 4:30 am EST/EDT

PARIS, December 10. /TASS/. The settlement of the conflict in Donbass is impossible without first ensuring security, Ukrainian President Vladimir Zelensky told a press conference after the Normandy Four summit in Paris.

“The Ukrainian side insisted that the comprehensive resolution of all issues is impossible without the most important element — the situation with security,” Zelensky said. “Only if security is ensured, political issues may be resolved,” he added.

He noted that at the Paris summit, Ukraine, Germany, France and Russia “discussed a lot of issues and coordinated some very important things.” “The first thing includes urgent actions on stabilizing the security situation in eastern Ukraine, as well as full, comprehensive and indefinite ceasefire which should start before the end of 2019,” he added.

“For effective monitoring and strengthening ceasefire control, all participating countries have reminded about the importance of ensuring the access of OSCE monitors to the whole territory of Ukraine,” Zelensky said.

The Ukrainian president admitted that many issues remained open at the Paris summit. “Of course, there are still many issues that we have not resolved today, unfortunately,” he said. Zelensky stressed that Ukraine is ready to implement the agreements reached at the summit but reminded that this is “a two-way street.”

Reply

Auslander on December 10, 2019 · at 12:11 pm EST/EDT

No one in Novorossiia wants to see ‘osce’ again, their bias was so blatant as to be an amazement. Once was enough, and a return of those worthies in capacity beyond ‘benign observer’ might not be advantageous to the osce chappies getting back out of Novorossiia. Memories are long and unforgiving.

“Zelensky stressed that Ukraine is ready to implement the agreements reached at the summit but reminded that this is “a two-way street.” What a joke. The orcs have yet, in six and a half years to do anything, not the first move, to implement the first letter of either agreement. I agree with President Putin, the comedian should read the agreement again, carefully.

Auslander

Reply

Alfred (Cairns) on December 10, 2019 · at 4:34 am EST/EDT

I think Russia would be wise to greatly improve the transport links between Russia and the LDNR – both road and rail. At some time in the future, there will be an urgent need to extend these links to the cities that are currently ruled by Kiev – Kharkov, Dnipro, Zaporizhzhia and Mariupol.

The EU and the government in Kiev are trying to improve the westward links so that will make Ukraine a much better transit country.

Reply

B.F. on December 10, 2019 · at 5:03 am EST/EDT

Excellent article by The Saker, and one that confirmed what I have been stating for some time. Ukraine is finished. It is a corpse which is still showing signs of life. The only thing left are plans for it's 'burial', symbolically speaking of course. The east will rejoin Russia. The west, the former Galicia, will become an area of contention between Poland and Hungary. This leaves central Ukraine and Kiev, which was Russia's first capital city. And yes, as The Saker has stated, central Ukraine will rejoin Russia in some form, although I expect that it will take time for total reunification with Russia. The problem is simple psychology. Ukrainians know they are of Russian origin. It will take time for them to fully accept the fact that they are indeed Russian.

Finally, as I have written before, that coup d'etat against Yanukovich in 2014 was an incredibly stupid course of action by the West, as all it did was start a chain reaction which cannot be terminated, ie. the coup initiated, slowly, a Ukrainian movement towards Russia, and by this I mean cultural, social, economic and political reunification with Russia. The West created Ukraine to weaken Russia. With the coup in 2014, the West began to destroy what they created, showing total ignorance of the historical and psychological trends which exist in Ukraine. I wonder how many times Putin laughed, seeing the West slowly return to Russia what they took with their Bolshevik financed 'revolution' in 1917.

Reply

Auslander on December 10, 2019 · at 10:40 am EST/EDT

The coup d'etat had nothing to do with Kiev or the rest of Ukraine, the prize was Sevastopol and Krimea. Foggy Bottom could care less about what has happened, is happening and will happen in Novorossiya beyond a faint hope that Russia will get bogged down in that war. Won't happen. The prize was snatched from Foggy Bottoms clutching talons by the locals, who took one look at Maidan, said 'not here' and slammed the doors shut to this island and this city, plus walled up the orcs in their bases and compounds.

Auslander

Reply

B.F. on December 10, 2019 · at 11:37 am EST/EDT

Auslander

Yes, Sevastopol and Crimea were the chief prizes for NATO, due to their geopolitical and strategic positions. However, NATO also needed control of the Ukrainian-Russian border, so that it could bring up it's missile systems as close to Russia as possible and thus give its self a tactical advantage over Russia. Thankfully it never happened. By the way, I enjoy reading your comments, which are first class.

Reply

Auslander on December 10, 2019 · at 12:04 pm EST/EDT

While the missile systems moving closer via Ukraine may have been part of the equation, there is little doubt that this city was the prize, the gold ring. We could hear them screaming in Foggy Bottom from here when we blocked the roads in to Krimu with our Berkut, not Krim Berkut, and locked up Ukraine Flot HQ and all their other bases in Sevastopol and Sevastopol Region plus blocked the actual Ukraine flot from moving and trapped them in their little sanctuary just north of Yevpatorya. They were pretty indignant.

Glad you enjoy my comments. I don't comment as much as I would like, time is in short supply around this little house.

Auslander

Reply

m_silenus on December 10, 2019 · at 5:59 am EST/EDT

Saker,

This is priceless :)

I've always suspected Putin is a biorobot.

A quote of Zelenskiy's words about Putin:

(Kindly ask someone with better command of English to translate it as close as possible.)

Reply

Bob on December 10, 2019 · at 7:49 am EST/EDT

Unless both Hammer & Sickle and Swastika are subsumed by concentration on Problem One – the Jew – the chaos of war which (((it))) relishes will surely ensue.

Reply

The Saker on December 10, 2019 · at 12:58 pm EST/EDT

Hi Bob

I have a request: please stop the silly ((())) business.

There are plenty of other websites where these brackets are seen as meaningful.

This is not one of them.

Thank you

The Saker

Reply

amarynth on December 10, 2019 · at 9:58 am EST/EDT

Mr Putin today with a very dire warning.

"We agreed [on the roadmap] in 2015. They have an amnesty law, some decisions have been taken, but nothing has been put into force," Putin told the presidential human rights council. Without guarantees, "I can imagine what would happen next. There will be a Srebrenica."

<https://www.rt.com/news/475494-putin-ukraine-border-donbass-srebrenica/>

Reply

David on December 10, 2019 · at 10:01 am EST/EDT

I would also add that Ukrainian authorities like to forget that the "criminal Communist regime" is the one that granted them their existence! You can change street names and take down statues, but without Lenin there is no Ukraine; and without Stalin the Ukraine that emerged in 1991 would have looked very different.

Reply

Craig Mouldey on December 10, 2019 · at 10:46 am EST/EDT

I thought this is a very good summation of this entire situation and its likely outcome. Zelenski must be regretting that he ever got this stupid idea in his head to run as president. The comedian doesn't have what it takes to deal with a gang of murderous thugs who threaten to take over the government. Nothing he might say can be trusted. He thinks eventually they will gain control of the break-away republics and Crimea and has told the Russian speaking people to move to Russia, even though that has been their home for who knows how long and in fact, this entire area is historically part of Russia. I've commented on other articles that in my view, the best case would be for most of what is called Ukraine to join again with Russia in one form or another and if it is to be, leave the far western area to their own demise. I hope these poor, suffering people can have some peace soon without fear that they will be sitting at home drinking tea when their house blows up.

Reply

vot tak on December 10, 2019 · at 11:43 am EST/EDT

Putin: If Kiev gets control of rebel-held border with Russia, a Srebrenica-type massacre may follow

<https://www.rt.com/news/475494-putin-ukraine-border-donbass-srebrenica/>

"We agreed [on the roadmap] in 2015. They have an amnesty law, some decisions have been taken, but nothing has been put into force," Putin told the presidential human rights council. Without guarantees, "I can imagine what would happen next. There will be a Srebrenica."

"We have seen the way Zelensky talks to the nationalists, and it's not clear who has the upper hand there," he explained.

"There is no certainty what would happen and who will be in command of those nationalists once they enter [breakaway] territories without a safety guarantee."

Personally, I don't see z as wanting to do anything positive. He is a new approach by the zionazi-gay strategists to keep the ukraine a thorn in Russia's side. Like with their frequently changing plans in Syria, as they get defeated, the z puppet is a change of plan to pursue the same overall goals. The porkshank failed and became a liability, like diem in Vietnam, so he was replaced by the zelensky quisling.

Reply

ALL NEWS SOUTH FRONT WATCH SCOTTS SANDBOX SELECT CMMT CAFE NON MSM NEWS

ABOUT THE EDITOR

The European Saker In his own words:

"I am a 'legal alien' currently living in the Imperial Homeland"

CONTACT INFO

Saker Analytics, LLC

1000 N. West Street
Suite 1200 #1588
Wilmington, DE
USA 19801

email thesaker:
vineyardsaker@gmail.com

email webmaster:
saker-webmaster@yandex.com

email moderation:
vineyard.mod_hs@unseen.is email CommunityCooperative:

SITEMAP

- Homepage
- Latest articles
- RSS feed of Articles
- RSS feed of Comments
- Thanks
- Blog's Philosophy
- Terminology
- Moderation Policy \(UPDATED December 10th, 2019\)
- Contact & Donations

SAKER ANDROID APP

An Android App has been developed by one of our supporters. It is available for download and install by clicking on the Google Play Store Badge above.

All the original content published on this blog is licensed by Saker Analytics, LLC under the Creative Commons CC-BY-SA 4.0 International license (creativecommons.org/licenses/by-sa/4.0). For permission to re-publish or otherwise use non-original or non-licensed content, please consult the respective source of the content.

