Recruiting started today in Transnistria. I'm sure Sam will volunteer.

Sam cel dus cu pluta, you're the man to follow! If you're saying that nothing will happen in Transnistria, then we should take note!

I remember your ramblings on this blog before 24th of February 2022. You were making fun of all the loonies that were saying "Putin will start the war soon". You had all the confidence in the world, logoree cât cuprinde, haha ce proști, Putin nu pornește niciun război.

Of course, you having some mental issues will help you overcome the fact that you were off in assessing the reality in the past.

Ești din ce în ce mai dus cu pluta, te depărtezi pe zi ce trece de orice forma de realitate, ți-ai pierdut ancora. Toate cele bune!

Well, Sam, if finding a quiet and peaceful place to live and take care of your children and animals was all that your wanderings were about then perhaps "Transnistria" (and Romania, maybe, in a predictable future) is seemingly not it. Maybe you are starting to suspect that that idyllic place you're seeking could have been, all this time, ... in Massachusetts? :) Take care.

No. Massachusetts is for normal sane people. He should go where the Supreme Beloved Leader Putin wants him: in Novosibirsk.
